Senate GOP To Open Cuban Invasion Probe

U.S. Promised Air Support, Exiled Leaders Declare

WASHINGTON (AP)—The controversy over the failure of the 1961 Cuban invasion has flared up again.

The Senate Republican leadership announced Tuesday it would begin an independent investigation of the U.S.-backed assault on the Bay of Pigs, and Democrats immediately raised a cry of "politics."

In Miami, some Cuban exile leaders took issue with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's statement that the United States never promised air cover for the invasion.

Charges JFK Betrayed

Dagoberto Darias, head of an invasion veterans organization and a commander of one of the assault transport ships, charged Tuesday that President Kennedy betrayed the Cuban people, even though "his brother is attempting to justify him on the Bay of Pigs fiasco."

He said jets were in the air on invasion day and that he had received a message from "the American flagship directing our operations" advising that air cover would be forthcoming at 2:30 p.m.

"We saw the first two planes pass in the direction of Giron Beach (invasion point)," he said. "A minute later two other jets crossed, but the next minute, the first ones returned, like sea gulls fleeing from a storm."

Gathering Information

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said today he is already gathering information on the crushed invasion and would lay it before the Senate Republican Policy Committee within two weeks.

The committee, he said, gave him clearance to begin the investigation.

Dirksen's aim obviously was to assemble evidence to rebut Atty. Gen. Kennedy's recent review of "mistakes" made in the assault. Dirksen said only that he was interested in learning if the President's brother "told the entire factual story." But Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., contended in the Senate that Kennedy's summary was "a cleanup operation—designed to make the worst mistake of the President's career seem like something entirely different."

Declines To Comment

The White House declined to comment on the investigation. There was no comment from the attorney general. Democrats responded that the Republicans were trying to play politics in international matters. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said it "has a strong partisan aura."

"Any conclusion they reached

Bishop Tells Rotarians of World's Perils

"Speed of transportation brings enemies as well as friends closer together," Thomas M. Cashmore, lord bishop of Dunwich, the Suffragan See in the Church of England Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich, England, stated when he spoke before 80 Rotary Club members Tuesday at the Memorial Building.

In his talk, "The Past, Present and Future," he went on to say that "it must be our determination to bring all nations together as good neighbors and that we must find ways to get behind the Iron and Bamboo curtains to reach the people to keep freedom and morality alive."

"Britain," he asserted, "has a great part to play in the modern world, perhaps not in money and military potential, but in moral leadership with the determination of free spirit which will not accept shackles, with freedom of heart and faith in God."

Bishop Cashmore pointed out that in this fast-moving world Britain, only 50 years ago "ruled the waves" and with it gave the world security. However, with the two wars, he acknowledged, there are now only three great powers—the USA, Russia and China.

Council Told Gas Firm's Rate Plan

William R. Hochradel, district manager of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., told City Council Tuesday night that a 2.8 per cent overall increase for fuel usage is "what the company feels is needed in order to make a fair return on its investment here."

The company's new rate proposal asks for a four-year contract with the city of Salem to replace the three-year contract which expired Jan. 14. The proposal is subject to further negotiations by City Council.

Hochradel said: "We try to realize a 6.8 per cent return on our investment. We didn't make it in the last two years."

A new rate proposal by Ohio Fuel calls for a 2.8 per cent overall increase in cost of fuel usage

Building and Zoning Officer Post Planned

City Solicitor Thomas Coe was instructed by City Council during a committee-of-the-whole meeting Tuesday evening to draw up an ordinance creating the position of municipal building inspector-zoning officer.

It is expected that the ordinance will be introduced at Council's next regular session, Feb. 5.

By creating the new building inspector-zoning officer position, Council hopes to lighten the burden of City Engineer F.S. Barckhoff, enabling the engineer to proceed without continual interruption on various engineering projects in the city.

Council decided Tuesday night that the municipal building inspector-zoning officer will be an appointee of the mayor, and will be responsible directly to the city's chief executive.

The position will be full time, paying $300 a month. It is expected that the hours of the municipal building inspector-zoning officer will be divided so as to allow a definite portion of each working day for the granting of building permits and another definite portion of each working day for the inspection of buildings.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer pointed out to Council that as conditions have been currently, there has been little or no time for the city engineer to inspect the construction of a new building after

Beaver Schools Closed by Snow

Area Escapes Full Brunt of Storm

A snowstorm sweeping across Ohio Tuesday night left the Salem area with a covering of less than two inches but created havoc in other sections.

Beaver Local School and the Retarded Children's School at Elkton suspended classes today, primarily because of slippery and drifting roads rather than heavy accumulations of snow.

All Columbiana County roads were covered and drifting this morning, according to John (Dick) Neill, county highway superintendent, who pressed snow plows and ash trucks into service at 6 a.m.

Neill said the county roads should be in good condition by 4 p.m., barring additional snow or drifting.

City and state highway department crews also were routed out in the early hours.

The temperature here, which registered a balmy 27 degrees at 11 p.m. Tuesday, dropped to 12 by 11 a.m. today. Near zero temperatures are predicted for tonight.

Cleveland received the full brunt of the storm, with over five inches of snow reported by daybreak. The speed limit was reduced to 40 miles an hour for the entire length of the Ohio Turnpike.

The snow was general round the state with the greatest accumulations reported in Northern Ohio. As of 7 a.m., the U.S. Weather Bureau reported six

Columbiana Seeks Sewage Plant Aid

COLUMBIANA — Mayor Lee Harrold Tuesday night affixed his signature to the village's application for federal financial aid in the construction of the proposed sewage disposal plant estimated to cost $300,000. The action was taken at special meeting of Council.

The application will be filed with the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency by Burgess and Nipe, consulting engineers of Columbus.

The village seeks to have the federal government pay 50 per cent of the half-million dollar construction costs of the plant which will replace the present 31-year-old system declared inadequate by the Ohio Department of Health.

While 50 per cent participation by the federal government is sought, the village's Board of Public Affairs, which has jurisdiction over sewage matters, will file for 30 per cent participation if the higher figure is rejected.

Ohio Legislature Gets 36 Measures

Carney Proposes Auto-Check Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two proposed laws by a Youngstown senator to protect the traveling public drew prime attention Tuesday as the Senate received its first 15 bills of the new legislative session.

All told, 35 bills were offered in the legislature Tuesday; more are due today. The total has passed 100—and it is only the beginning.

Offered by Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Mahoning, were measures to:

Require annual inspection of all of Ohio's more than 4 million motor vehicles by the State Highway Patrol at a fee of $1.50 each. Require uninsured motorists to pay a $15 annual fee, in addition to the $10 license tag fee, to build up an "unsatisfied judgment fund" out of which persons who have suffered personal injury or property damage could be compensated.

Another proposed bill by Rep. Edward O. Flowers, D-Summit, would appropriate $8 million to build eight regional recreation centers for Ohio's senior citizens. The bill has nothing to do with Rhodes' plan for so-called Golden Age Villages for the non-psychotic aged in state hospitals.

Another by Sen. Ed Garrigan, R-Summit, provides for mandatory reciprocity between cities levying municipal income taxes. Reciprocity now is permissible, but some big cities have refused to enter such pacts with their suburbs.

The Senate also received a resolution congratulating and commending Marine Lt. Col. John Glenn Jr., formerly of New Concord, America's first astronaut to orbit the earth.

Another key House proposal would extend for three miles into Lake Erie the jurisdiction of municipal courts in Ashtabula, Avon Lake, Bellevue, East Cleveland, Conneaut, Lakewood, Lorain, Oberlin, Painesville, Port Clinton, Rocky River, Sandusky, Toledo and Willoughby.

Among other Senate bills were measures to:

Outlaw malpractice suits against doctors who give emergency treatment.

Permit Ohio Supreme Court judges to select their own chief justice, rather than having the voters elect one, and provide that any judge named or elected to the high court must have had prior service on an appellate court or the Supreme Court.

House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont, and Majority Whip Harry V. Jump, R-Huron, offered a resolution which would give Ohio's assent to a U.S. constitutional amendment banning a poll tax in presidential or congressional elections.

Rep. Bernice MacKenzie, D-Stark, offered a resolution calling for annual sessions of the legislature, regular sessions in the summer and year to deal with general matters and the even-numbered year sessions limited to tax and appropriations laws.

Rep. Walter L. White, R-Allen, offered a constitutional amendment to reduce residence requirements for Ohio voters from one year to six months.

The House adopted a resolution of tribute to former Rep. Harry H. Wright of Hocking County.

THEY'LL GET A MESSAGE — House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts gestures toward two Senate Democratic leaders, George Smathers of Florida, left, and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, as they talk with newsmen after their weekly breakfast meeting with President Kennedy at the White House. McCormack reported the President plans to send Congress a special message Jan. 29 on aid to education. Details of the proposed program, he said, were not discussed.

Legislators Learning Blue Laws Touchy Issue

By WILLIAM S. VANCE

News Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS — The house judiciary committee holds its second hearing today on two blue laws bills which evoked enough comment Tuesday to convince Ohio's lawmakers they're going to step on someone's toes no matter what they do.

On one side Tuesday were witnesses representing the Seventh Day Adventists and Ohio Religious Liberties Association who stand firmly against Sunday closing legislation and want it repealed or loosened.

On the other side, representatives of the Ohio Council of Churches and the Ohio State Council of Retail Merchants made it clear they want relaxation in blue laws enforcement.

The judiciary committee is hearing testimony on a bill that would exempt from Sunday closing certain stores on the basis of items they sell, and on another to repeal the blue laws and let municipalities and townships govern closings through local option.

Rep. Raymond E. Hildebrand, R-Lucas, sponsor of the first bill, told the committee it could have a free hand in revising his bill as long as it retains some form of Sunday closing legislation.

Rep. Jess Dempster, D-Tuscarawas, defending the local option bill he co-sponsored with Rep. Martin W. Feigert, D-Van Wert, said: "It is apparent to me, from an enforcement standpoint, that we have no blue laws in Ohio. I think if we do away with the present laws, very few would ask for local option."

Among proponents of the Dempster-Feigert bill was F. W. Hudgins of Mount Vernon, representing the Ohio Religious Liberties

Dr. Lease Elected by AFS Group

Dr. Donald Lease, who with his wife, was the first to make a home for a foreign student in Salem under the American Field Service program, was elected president of the AFS committee Tuesday night at Salem Senior High School.

Miss Helle Gade Jensen of Skages, Denmark, who came to the city and SHS in 1960, lived with the Leases at their Highland Ave. home.

The dentist succeeds Edward Butcher as head of the local AFS committee. George Equizi was named vice president; Howard Shaefer, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Cook, secretary; and John Callahan, president of the Student Council at SHS, student representative.

The committee made plans for obtaining a host family for the new foreign student who will be coming to Salem this fall.

Dr. Lease said a host family must be selected by Feb. 15. After a home is located, the committee will make application to the AFS headquarters in New York City where a boy or girl will be selected to come here on the basis of common interests, background and other factors.

From a flood of applications for youth in many lands, the AFS chooses about 2,000 successful candidates to be assigned to American homes for study in high schools. The student who will come to Salem will probably be known by May, Dr. Lease said.

The problem of locating host families is a major concern of the committee. Dr. Lease believes that more families would be interested if they understood what is involved in providing a home for a student for the 10-month period. His family, the C. J. Lehwalds of S. Lincoln and the Rolin Herrons of Fair St., subsequent host families, have been

Contract Gets Approval of Shipping Firms

Manufacturers Hit Intervention by Presidential Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking longshoremen from Maine to Virginia vote today and Thursday on a peace pact—accepted by shipowners—which would end the month-long dock tieup, longest and costliest in Atlantic Coast maritime history.

A return to work by Friday is possible.

It remains to be seen whether South Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports will go along with the so-called master contract negotiated in New York.

The peace formula was proposed by a presidential board which drew the fire of the National Association of Manufacturers for wielding what it called a club on union and management.

Blasts Power Display

The NAM's official publication said in an editorial Tuesday that the public interest "required that this strike be settled. But the way to end it was not by a bare-knuckled display of government power unaccompanied by law."

Alexander P. Chopin, chairman of the New York Shipping Association, representing employers, announced that the association membership accepted the recommended peace pact in the national interest.

He emphasized that the acceptance was not binding outside the northeastern coastal area.

The New York agreement normally sets the master contract pattern for both East and Gulf ports, which bargain separately on local issues.

Since the New York employers' vote to accept was not unanimous there was concern in official Washington whether shipping firms in the Deep South will go along with the master settlement. Calls Settlement Fair

In advance of the association vote, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the three-man board appointed by President Kennedy to mediate the dispute, said the settlement his group recommended was "fair and just."

"If this case had gone to arbitration," Morse said in Washington, "it would cost the employers at least twice the 37-cent sele-

West Branch To Delay Its Moving Day

Members of the West Branch Board of Education met Tuesday evening in a special session to inspect the progress of the new high school building and decided against early occupancy of the structure.

The main purpose of the tour was to determine the possibility of occupying the building for the second school semester which begins Jan. 28.

Although board members were pleased with the work done by the contractor, Charles Cartwright, they found certain areas unfinished. This will prohibit acceptance of the building until later in the year, explained Clinton Heacock, school district executive head.

Cafeteria equipment cannot be installed for several weeks and construction of the sewage septic tank has not been started and cannot be as long as the temperature remains below 35 degrees. There are also several smaller jobs such as painting and cleaning which will require additional time.

Under existing conditions the board feels the delay in taking over the building until proper completion will be well worth the wait.

Norman Barnett is president of the board.

Cake to Satisfy Chocolate Fans

Have you noticed that when Chocolate Layer Cake is listed on a restaurant menu, it usually turns out to be a white cake filled and covered with chocolate frosting? For years we've listened to diners' question this terminology, and we've protested that this dessert should be called Chocolate-frosted White Layer Cake, but to no avail!

So our advice to semanticists is to give up and enjoy the cake not only in a restaurant but at home. Bake it in your own kitchen with this recipe. It produces three light and fluffy layers.

The frosting is the confectioners-sugar type with added marshmallows, and it has excellent chocolate flavor, but although it's extremely smooth, it's not satin-smooth, so don't expect that quality. We like to embed salted nuts or miniature macaroons over the top and sides of the frosting, but that's not strictly necessary.

CHOCOLATE LAYER CAKE

2-1/3 cups sifted cake flour, 2-1/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup butter or margarine, 1-1/2 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 eggs, 2-3 cup milk, Chocolate Frosting.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Beat in eggs thoroughly, one at a time. Gently beat in sifted dry ingredients in 4 additions, alternately with milk, until smooth each time. Turn into 3 round 8-inch layer-cake pans that have been lined on the bottom with paper. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean. Turn out on wire racks; remove paper; cool. Fill and cover with Chocolate Frosting.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

6 cups sifted confectioners sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2-3 cup milk, 16 large (4 ounces) marshmallows (cut 6-ounce packages) glazed semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine.

In a large bowl, stir together until smooth the sugar, salt, vanilla and 1-3 cup of the milk. Melt the marshmallows in the remaining 1-3 cup milk over low heat; add chocolate and butter; stir until smooth. Pour chocolate mixture over sugar mixture in bowl; beat until blended. If frosting is not thick enough for spreading, let stand in a cool place, stirring occasionally, before using. Makes about 4 cups.

does not get too brown before top is set.

OVEN-BROILED CHICKEN

broiler-fryer (cut in 10 pieces) 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs, 1/4 pound butter or margarine (melted).

Wash chicken and dry. Mix together the flour, salt, pepper, paprika; mix with crumbs. Dip chicken in flour mixture to coat on all sides. Place chicken, in one layer and skin side down, in hot butter in baking dish (about 8 by 12 by 2 inches).

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) chicken; continue to bake until browned and cooked through—20 to 30 minutes longer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

TUNA SPREAD

8 ounces cream cheese, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1/4 cup minced onion, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon tabasco sauce, 3 cans 6 1/2 or 7 ounces each tuna (drained).

Beat together (with an electric mixer) the cream cheese, chili sauce, parsley, onion, Worcestershire and tabasco. Beat in tuna until blended. Chill thoroughly. Makes 1 quart.

CINNAMON PUFFS

1 package or cake active dry or compressed yeast, 1/4 cup warm water (105-115 degrees), 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs (at room temperature) 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg. Rind and juice of lemon, 3/4 cup chopped pecans, 1 cup milk, scalded, 4-5 cups enriched flour 1 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon.

Soften yeast in warm water. Cream together in mixing bowl butter salt and sugar. Add eggs, nutmeg, lemon juice and rind and pecans. Cool milk. Add to egg mixture. Add yeast. Stir in 2 cups flour. Beat 100 strokes. Work in 2 to 3 cups more flour.

Knead 10 full minutes by the clock. Turn over in well-greased bowl and cover with clean tea towel. Let rise at about 85 degrees until doubled in bulk (about 1 hour). Test to see if doubled by pressing two fingers into dough. If imprint remains when fingers are withdrawn, it has doubled. Punch down by plunging fist into center. This allows gas to escape. Fold over from four sides. Turn onto board and cut in two. Seal cut edges by turning in and let rest 10 minutes.

Cut in half. Cut each half of dough into about 40 to 50 uniform pieces. Form each piece into ball; roll in butter. Combine cinnamon and sugar. Roll balls in cinnamon-sugar mixture.

Arrange layers of balls in well-greased ring mold (angel food cake pan may be used, but do not use the one you use for angel food cake). Sprinkle extra cinnamon-sugar on top. Let rise until doubled.

Bake in a 350-degree oven about 35 minutes.

This makes 2 Cinnamon Puffs, or half of dough may be used for puffs and half made into a Swedish Tea Ring.

Cooking Is Fun ...

RICE CASSEROLE

1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1 small onion (finely diced) 1 cup long-grain rice, 2 cups boiling water.

Melt the butter in a 9- or 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat; add the rice and mix well so all the grains are coated with the butter. Add the boiling water. Turn into a 1-1/2 quart casserole; cover; bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 30 minutes or until rice is tender and water has evaporated. For dry rice, remove cover at end of baking time and allow to stand in turned-off oven for a brief period, mixing carefully with a fork once or twice. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

APPLE-NUT WAFFLES

2 cups sifted flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 eggs (separated) 1-1/2 cups milk, 5 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted), 1-1/2 cups pared and finely diced yellow Delicious apples, 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts.

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Beat egg yolks until pale yellow; add milk and slightly cooled butter and beat to combine. Add egg yolk mixture to sifted dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Mix in apple and walnuts. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff enough to hold straight peaks; fold into batter. Spoon onto hot waffle iron and bake until golden brown. Serve hot with butter and maple syrup.

SPECIAL APPLE PIE

Rich pastry for a 2-crust pie (8 1/2 inch pie plate), 4 cups thinly sliced pared McIntosh apples, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup white raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained), 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Line pie plate with pastry leaving an overhang. Add apples in alternate layers with the sugar, raisins and cinnamon. Adjust top crust; turn edges under; flute; make slits in top; brush with milk. Bake on lowest rack of hot (425 degrees) oven about 35 minutes or until apples are tender and the pastry browned. Serve hot.

INDIAN PUDDING

1 can (14 1/2 ounces) evaporated milk, 1 2-3 cups water, 1/4 cup white cornmeal, 1/2 cup dark molasses, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3-4 teaspoon ginger. Scald undiluted evaporated milk and the water in the top part of a double boiler. Gradually stir in the cornmeal. Cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, for 20 minutes. Remove from heat and over water; mix in the molasses, salt and ginger.

Turn into a buttered 1-1/2 quart soufflé or other deep baking dish. Cover (with foil if necessary) and bake in a slow (300 degrees) oven for 1 hour; stir; continue baking, uncovered, 1 hour more. Serve warm with vanilla ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

BUTTERMILK BISCUITS

2 cups sifted flour, 2 1/4 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3/4 cup buttermilk (about).

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Cut in butter with pastry blender until particles are fine. Stir in buttermilk gradually, using enough to make a soft dough. Turn out on prepared pastry cloth and knead a few times.

Roll out to 1/2-inch thickness and cut out with floured cutter. Place a few inches apart on buttered cookie sheet. Brush top of biscuits with milk.

Bake in a very hot (450 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 20 biscuits.

WESTERN OMELET

2 medium onions (sliced in thin strips), 1/2 cup finely diced ham,

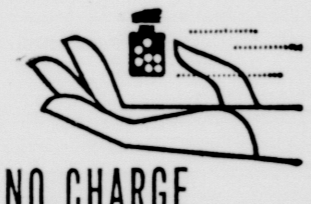

3 tablespoons butter, 4 eggs

(slightly beaten) Salt and pepper, Chili sauce.

Cook the onions and ham in half the butter in a skillet until onion is golden. Add salt and pepper to taste to eggs. Heat remaining butter in a clean medium skillet; add eggs and as they cook gently, draw edges away from side of pan and tip pan so uncooked egg will reach edges.

When omelet is still slightly moist on top, spread with onion-ham mixture; cover skillet and allow top to set. Fold over with wide spatula; turn out; serve at once with chili sauce.

Makes 2 large servings. Keep heat low so bottom of omelet

Discontent Will Be Epidemic

One of the eloquent passages in President Kennedy's remarks to Congress last week concerned mutual assistance—the foreign aid program.

"The continued progress of the mutual assistance program," he said, "requires a persistent discontent with present performance. We have been reorganizing the program to make it a more effective, efficient instrument—and that process will continue this year."

President Kennedy will not be able to quarantine "persistent discontent" in official circles. It is running through the American public like an epidemic.

It is an article of faith among spenders that foreign aid should not be touched by the rude hands of skeptics nor even scrutinized by prying eyes. As President Kennedy said in his latest remarks, his predecessors have stood staunchly for foreign aid and he proposes to stand for it in the same way.

The fact is, nevertheless, that during each preceding administration, going back to the Roosevelt administration, Yankee skepticism has been asserting itself a little more stoutly each year. This is the year when the ax may fall heavily on what skeptics speak of as "Uncle Sugar's great giveaway."

THE 88TH CONGRESS shapes up as more hostile to the giveaway principle than any since the end of World War II. Since 1946, $100 billion have gone into foreign aid.

No one questions that the United States has had a rich return on its money. It could not have afforded to let economic inadequacy pave the way for Communist takeovers in countries with active and knowledgeable Communist parties. Neither could it have afforded to let other countries drift into economic and political chaos, getting ready for eventual intrusion of Communist agents. The United States has been defending capitalism in one of the most effectual ways possible—with capital.

But the issue is whether foreign aid must be carried on to suit spenders, or whether savers are going to have a hand in it. Last year's program suffered deeper cuts than any previous program; 108 members of the House of Representatives voted to drop it altogether. Key legislators are reported to have warned President Kennedy that even heavier cuts are in prospect in 1963.

He is asking for nearly $5 billion. Opposition to the request will grow out of doubts about the effectiveness of continued foreign aid in furthering U.S. objectives.

MORE AND MORE Americans have come to believe that the eagerness with which foreigners accept U.S. money has no direct bearing on acceptance of an obligation to side with the United States.

The fight that broke out in Congress last year was vigorous. Investigators had discovered unconscionable wastes of money. Foreign aid administration had been so spotty a major reform was ordered and is now being undertaken.

It is not the principle that is being opposed but practices that cannot be condoned. Unless the Kennedy administration can demonstrate that bad practices have been eliminated, 1963 should be the beginning of a wholesale cutoff for foreign aid spending.

Even if it can satisfy all critics, the administration should set a cutoff date for foreign aid, to shrink the larger deficit it proposes to incur in the process of giving tax relief at home.

Does it make sense to give money away abroad at a $5-billion-a-year clip when there isn't enough to pay the tab at home?

Drag Racing

If two Alliance youths think the court penalties here were severe following their conviction for drag racing, they should consider a similar case in Canton more than a year ago where one of two speeding cars struck a third automobile, killing three members of one family and leaving the father a cripple for life. The youthful drag racer in that tragedy is now spending a life term in the Ohio penitentiary.

The impulse, the challenge or the dare would have been better left unanswered.

In the local case, which resulted from a race on U.S. Route 62 near Alliance, the court has decreed that the defendants will pay $100 and costs, serve five days in the county jail, and give up their driver's licenses for three months.

If they violate the provisions of their probation, they will go to jail for a maximum six months' term.

Actually, the two 18-year-old boys ought to thank the state highway patrolmen who stopped them, if a lesson has been learned. Drag-racing has no place on streets or highways.

Inventing excuses never brings any royalty.

It's a lot easier to figure out how to do things than it is to do them.

Juvenile delinquencies often result when the parents in earlier years were asleep at the switch.

Congressional Inquiry Into Cuban Fiasco Needed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

The American people are entitled to know whether the chiefs of their armed services are incompetent or whether, in strictly military operations, they are being interfered with by civilians in the government.

A congressional investigation of just what happened before the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba took place in April 1961 is more than ever necessary now, because of what is being disclosed as the "true story" of the fiasco.

More than 300,000 men of our armed services were mobilized last October inside the United States for a possible invasion of Cuba in order to get rid of the Soviet missile bases there but there is no way to judge whether the military chiefs even then had the full authority to act and just what restrictions were placed upon them which could have affected the success of that expedition.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, who — because he is a brother of the President — is regarded as the administration's authoritative spokesman in many matters outside his own department, has just given two interviews on the Cuban fiasco — one to the Knight newspapers and the other to U. S. News & World Report.

THE TWO interviews dovetail, though they do not cover all of the same points.

The attorney general told David Kraslow, Washington correspondent of the Knight newspapers, that there had been no invasion plan completed during Mr. Eisenhower's term.

He said: "There was a general concept. The logistics and the details were worked out after the President (Kennedy) took office." Added interest has developed now in this whole subject, because many of the Cuban officers of the invasion force, who were recently ransomed, have been telling Americans that the United States had assured them of air cover.

Attorney General Kennedy makes quite a point of the fact that "no U.S. air cover" was ever promised. Technically, this is correct. But the United States was fully cognizant of the air support that the Cubans were supposed to have. Yet this was inadequate. Attorney General Kennedy said in his interview in U. S. News & World Report:

"The first point is that there was not U.S. air cover and none was withdrawn. In fact, the President didn't withdraw any air cover for the landing forces — U. S. or otherwise."

"What happened was this: One air attack had been made on Saturday on Cuban airports. There was a flurry at the United Nations and elsewhere and, as a result, U. S. participation in the matter was coming to the surface. This surfacing was contrary to the pre-invasion plan. There was suppose to be another attack on the airports on Monday morning.

"The President was called about whether another attack which had been planned should take place. As there was this stir about the matter, he gave instructions that it should not take place at that time unless those having the responsibility felt that it was so important it had to take place, in which case they should call him and discuss it further."

"That's what was postponed. It wasn't air cover of the beaches or landings and, in fact, the attack on the airports took place later that day."

THE AIR COVER provided was from a base in Central America. What part the United States government played in organizing it is not disclosed. In the middle of a military operation, however, you can't make a long-distance call to the White House and discuss the next move. The Anti-Castro forces were sure air cover was coming from somewhere.

The attorney general was asked who did the planning. He declared that "the plan that finally went into effect was approved by our military — the Pentagon, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as well as the Central Intelligence Agency."

He added that, while the joint chiefs "approved" the plan, "the responsibility for the planning lay primarily with the CIA," and that, since the President had to give final approval to the plan, he had accepted the blame.

In both interviews, the attorney general said that U. S. air power was to have been used only if the ships transporting the Cuban invasion force had been detected by Castro before they reached the target area and were attacked on the high seas on their way back to Central America.

This is the explanation given for the presence of U. S. warships, including an aircraft carrier, in the vicinity of the Bay of Pigs on the day of the invasion.

Yet it is asserted that before the invasion the President had "made it clear" that United States armed forces, including air power, would not be used.

IN THE INTERVIEW in the Knight newspapers, the attorney general said, "the plan that was used was fully cleared by the CIA and the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

What does "cleared" mean? Do the joint chiefs take responsibility for any such plan as was employed?

Listing the major "mistakes," Mr. Kennedy added: "There was not sufficient air cover at the beach. That was a mistake. There were not enough men and equipment. That was a mistake. Underestimating the T33s (Castro's air planes) — that was a serious mistake. The planning was inadequate, just inadequate."

Who did all this planning, and why wasn't someone in the U. S. Air Force able to say in advance whether the T33s had the capacity to carry rockets? These were U.S. planes originally given to the Batista regime in Cuba.

The important details have never been divulged, as there has been a constant cover-up.

If Congress now fails to make a searching inquiry, with testimony available to the public, another military fiasco could occur, especially if the same "military planners" are still in command at the Pentagon or elsewhere.

Offers Tournament Suggestion

I see by the paper that some changes have been made to improve the system of running the AA Sectional and District basketball tournaments. The fans, somehow seem to have been overlooked. Without those fans, there would be no tournaments. After all, it does take money.

I think that there should be some changes in seating and ticket sales. My idea is that when two teams are playing half of the tickets should go to each town involved and all be reserved seats — students and adults. Then when the game is over, clear the building and admit the fans of the next two teams playing, etc. In this way I believe it would increase the income and everybody would be happy. There will, of course be certain exceptions such as all teams playing, the coaches, etc. should be provided tickets to all the games. It would only cost the price of printing the tickets to try this for one year.

I and many others are not going to attend any tourney games this year because we are tired of going to the fieldhouse hours before the games in order to get in and get a seat.

Maybe if more people would write to officials running the tournament something would be done.

Against P.O. Plan

The Salem Area Retired Workers club, at the Jan. 7 meeting, adopted a resolution opposing the school board's plan to obtain the old post office building.

The reasons are roughly similar to those given by the Democratic organization, which opposes use of the building by the board. Our resolution was delivered to Orein A. Naragon president of the board of education, Jan. 11.

Carl H. Juergens, president, and Donald Whitacre, secretary, Salem Area Retired Workers.

From the Files

10 YEARS AGO — Atty. South Metzger was elected president of the Salem Home Nursing Service Board at the quarterly meeting this week.

25 YEARS AGO — Mrs. L. D. Cessna, president, was in the chair when the Salem Music Study Club met in the assembly room of the public library Monday.

35 YEARS AGO — Mr. and Mrs. Russell Greenawalt and sons, Charles and Bobby of Salem, spent the weekend in Cleveland where they attended the automobile show.

Matter of Fact

Psychological warfare is by no means a modern invention; it has been used in various guises throughout the ages. For example, in the 18th century, hats were used to deceive the enemy. The bearskin shako and lofty plumed hat were intended to increase the apparent height of the wearer and impress his foes.

Hamming It Up . . .

Hoffa's Grand Design

By VICTOR RIESEL

At one point in the $750 million Longshoremen's stoppage, Jimmy Hoffa dispatched word to the dockworkers strike leaders they could borrow as much of his $40 million Teamsters treasury as they needed.

Hoffa is open-fisted that way. He's a one-man mobile national monetary fund. He swoops in wherever he believes he can find industrial unrest. Especially in the jugular industries of the land.

This he calls organizing. And it is costing the Teamsters' private Fort Knox some $2½ million dollars a year.

His latest venture is an invasion of inner space — the field of commercial passenger and freight air carriers.

AS USUAL, his operation is national, in depth, and expensive. And this one must be important to the man. He's directing the campaign personally.

Henry Breen, chief of the new airline division of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, reports to him regularly.

It all grooves right into the pattern of the indefatigable man. He still wants to become Mr. Transportation, directing workers on land, sea and in the air. Outer space, too.

His airline division now is raiding the field covered by the Interests (IAM). His first objective is national Association of Machine to displace the IAM as the union on the sprawling Eastern Airlines — on the ramp, on the field, in the shops. After that, the airports themselves.

Jimmy Hoffa has been working this project with the methodology of an old labor field marshal. First he moved his men into Eastern's ranks in Miami. Then into Atlanta. And recently, his people ran a meeting at New York in the northern hub of the line.

He is using the same technique he tried so futilely and expensively in the communications field. He's signing up employees in the hope he'll have enough to force a Labor Board election.

IF HE CAN "take Eastern he'll have a big airline division. The Teamsters already have contracts with Pan American at Cape Canaveral. They've a pact with Western Airlines, the Flying Tiger Line and Los Angeles Airways.

With these as a base Hoffa can fan out to the thousands of airports — large and small feeder ones — across the land.

Such a grand offensive could be based on the fleet of rolling fuel tankers which his men drive. Airport pickets could cut off aviation gas. The planes then would have to fly the fuel into the airports and pipe it into craft sitting on the ribbons alongside. It has been done.

Strangely Hoffa's grand sign has gone unnoticed by the country. Most observers are fascinated by Hoffa's indictments or by news of a new grand jury sitting in Nashville to probe charges of jury tampering, or by word of an old Chicago Grand Jury soon to wind up its investigation of the truckers' pension fund.

Certainly that's exciting. But not nearly as vital as Hoffa's scientific pursuit of power — a subject in which he is a one-man institute of advanced studies.

EARLIER THIS YEAR, for example, he tried to invade the Santa Fe railway system so he could get a fingernail hold on the railroad system in which there now is so much unrest. He had his Teamsters union move in on something called the Santa Fe Trail Transportation Co.

This Santa Fe subsidiary, operating across eight states, has a labor contract with the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. There was an election. Hoffa's unit was beaten the other week by a more than 2-1 tally.

Recently I did a study of the nation's 28,000-mile inland waterways system. Part of it carries out huge space missiles to Cape Canaveral. I found Hoffa operating on the rivers with another special unit. There is no doubt that all this is part of truly vast master organizing strategy reaching from New York's Idlewild International Airport to Alaska and Hawaii.

BUT THIS report would not be complete without disclosing that many insiders believe Hoffa is harassed by an uneasiness over a rising rebellion inside the Teamsters.

In recent weeks his intimates have lost some tough elections — and I mean tough — in several important cities.

Typical is Baltimore. There his buddy was driven from power in a union of 5,000 drivers by Dick Grabowski who stood up and defied him on the floor of the 1957 convention. In some cities the anti-Hoffa forces have lost by margins so small that a switch of 250 to 300 votes would have given them famous locals.

So Hoffa wants a few really solid wins to his credit. As a specialist in power he well knows that nothing evaporates its image so swiftly as does a successful challenge by some "little guy" somewhere.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You will be performing an invaluable service for the business world if you print this letter. It is about weeping women.

I am personnel director of a large office. Our company is proud of its excellent working conditions, superior equipment and the benefits we provide for our employees. Yet every day, without fail, at least one woman comes into my office and cries all over the upholstered furniture.

A female who accepts the challenge of the business world should expect criticism, competition and personality conflicts. She asked for the whole package when she left her comfortable home and went out after that paycheck.

I'd like to buy a full-page ad in every newspaper in the country and say "WOMEN WHO WORK—GROW UP. Men cannot respect a woman who blubbers like a 4-year-old when things go wrong." I must sign off now. Here comes another one.—DAMP FURNITURE.

Dear Damp Furniture: All right, girls, turn off the water-works, you're ruining the personnel director's shoe shine.

And you, sir—keep those paper tissues handy because the gals are going to keep right on bawling.

From Mouths of Babes

Dear Ann: I have taught third graders in the public schools for many years. These youngsters are inclined to tell a teacher things older children would not. They are so helpless in family difficulties my heart goes out to them.

I know a father of 13 children who has not worked in almost two years. Another father of eight has been unemployed for a year. Aid to dependent children helps feed and house them but the damage to their personalities is irreparable.

Youngsters should not grow up in a home where nobody works. They may become only too willing to go on welfare themselves when they grow up.

Obviously, some men can't find employment. But too many fathers prefer relief to working. I recommend closer surveillance of families on relief so that able-bodied men who CAN work, are not allowed to loaf and provide wretched examples for their children.—TROUBLED.

Dear Troubled: I abhor the notion that EVERYONE on relief is free-loading, but I agree the administration of our welfare programs can, in some areas, be improved.

As you so cogently pointed out, poor administration involves not only a waste of taxpayers' money but, more importantly, human values which can demoralize future generations. Thank you for writing.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

School Finances

The Board of Education, which has come to grips with financial deficits at various times during the past year and must borrow $80,000 soon to meet Jan. 31 and Feb. 15 payrolls, is taking a realistic approach to its appropriations for 1963.

The proposed budget for the year totals $1,446,359, which is $13,644 less than actually spent in '62.

No action was taken on the budget at the board's regular meeting Monday, to permit members to study the fiscal measure and, if possible, make recommendations where some funds might be cut. Board members will have ample time to study the four-page fact sheet before the next meeting. In the meantime, the board will learn the amount of tax money to expect from the county.

A $1.44 million school budget is big business, all the more reason why the board's realistic approach on expenses makes sense to taxpayers who foot the bill.

Winter's Fire Dangers

At least three families have been left homeless in the district recently as the result of fires which destroyed their rural abodes. Heavy firing of furnaces as the result of the prolonged cold spell is blamed by firemen for the start of the conflagrations.

The only happy thought is that no lives have been lost, yet personal belongings of the families have been destroyed. It would be a kind gesture if people who care enough would donate food, clothing or furniture to the Salvation Army, Red Cross or churches for distribution to those in need.

Meanwhile, take precautions in operating your own home heating system. Winter has two more months to go.

Stealing the Money By Truman Twill

The new governor of Michigan, George Romney, has had his first experience under a state law that requires him to listen to citizens who want to tell him their troubles.

Gov. Romney will comply with the law by holding scheduled sessions during which Michiganders can line up and have 5 minutes apiece to get it off their chests.

First time he did this he had 45 interviews between 8 a.m. and noon; almost none could be held down to 5 minutes. Significantly, he thought, only one "crank" broke into the lineup. All the rest were on the level. His staff has predicted an all-crank turnout.

They were people who needed the intervention of a governor—or someone like a governor. Gov. Romney either gave personal advice, if that's what was sought, or he told a member of his administration to get on top of it bucky-bucky and see what could be done.

This idea is as old as the audiences that kings and potentates granted to their subjects since the memory of historians runneth not to the contrary. What makes it noteworthy in Michigan is the fact it makes representative government as responsive as enlightened despots used to be.

The big thing then was to get the ear of Mister Big long enough to produce action. It still is. Everywhere else, the rule is to go to the head man; never waste time talking to the underlings, who will give you the run-around. But in popular government, of all places, the head man has become inaccessible.

He is insulated from his subjects by a 10-deep wall of bureaucratic fluff. The closest you can get to him is the assistant to an assistant secretary and you might as well talk to the flunkies who does his laundry.

Not only is this a wrench to the people who voted for Mister Big. It is a jolt to the great man himself because he loses touch with reality. He becomes the prisoner of his palace guard. All he knows about the facts of life is what they choose to tell him.

History is full of stories about this, and the stories aren't all historic. There are current ones. Does Jack Kennedy have any way to find out what the American people are concerned about? Does Charles de Gaulle know what's on the minds of Frenchmen?

Or are these men pumped full of whatever the palace guard wants to tell them? The answer is obvious. They are prisoners of their positions. The only ordinary people they ever see are on the curb as they are whisked past to whatever flubbery their managers have arranged for them that day.

All they know about the people they say they are bleeding for is what someone else tells them. Our own president relies on professional pollsters, who go around asking people how they feel about a variety of subjects. De Gaulle looks inside himself, resolute in the belief that he IS the French people.

Best of luck to George Romney, new governor of Michigan—and congratulations. That law which forces him to learn the people's problems could keep him from being overwhelmed by the momentous matters that preoccupy public officials.

In no time, they get the idea that what happens to Yemen is more important than Joe Schwartz's pizzeria down the street. It isn't, you know. In Yemen local yokels are drawing pay to worry about Yemen—and if they're worrying about the United States they're stealing the money.

De Gaulle Puts Britain Euromart Entry on Ice

PARIS (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle agreed today to put the problem of Britain's entry into the European Common Market on ice for the time being.

Reliable sources said De Gaulle at a final half-hour talk with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, agreed to Adenauer's proposal that the executive commission of the European Economic Community make a thorough new study of the problems of British entry and submit its recommendations to the foreign ministers of the six Common Market countries.

and China only because of sheer numbers.

He stated that his concern is not about himself but about his grandchildren, warning, "we must not become soft but rather be hard realists in our thinking and dealing with men of all races and religion, and that we must study and sacrifice when we know where we must go." He also warned that the leopard does not change spots and that until Soviet Russia is willing to pull its armies out of East Germany, Hungary and Cuba can we relax.

Bishop Cashmore pointed out that a wrecker can destroy in days what it has taken civilization centuries to build. He admonished Rotarians that they are builders, not wreckers, and that as such, they must build on "the foundation of honesty, truth and love."

The speaker was introduced by Robert Manchester of Canfield, a past director of Rotary International. The bishop spoke earlier to the Columbiana Rotary club.

would be considered quite serious," he said. "I doubt very seriously that any objective findings will come out of it."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said: "President Kennedy has taken full responsibility for the failure at the Bay of Pigs. This is no longer a matter of consideration."

The GOP investigation seemed certain to focus on Atty. Gen. Kennedy's contention that the United States had never promised to provide air cover for the invasion.

Last week a group of Cuban invasion leaders visiting the attorney general indicated to newsmen that no U.S. air cover had been pledged, saying "we had our own planes."

In another development, two officials of the American Red Cross flew into Havana Tuesday at the invitation of Cuba. There was speculation their mission may deal with the 17 or more Americans held in Cuban prisons.

Government officials were still refusing to say how many cargo ships have docked at Cuban ports since the U.S. naval blockade was lifted more than two months ago.

The State Department backs such questions to the Defense Department which says the information is classified.

Levi Kimball of New Philadelphia, formerly of Lisbon, has been appointed assistant division engineer at the Ohio Highway Department's Division 11 headquarters in New Philadelphia.

In making the announcement to his staff, Earl W. Nelson, Division 11 Deputy Director, said that Mr. Kimball's duties will be to assist and advise on engineering matters in the seven county area, which contains over 1,400 miles of state and U.S. highways.

A 40-year veteran with the Highway Department, Kimball has come up through the ranks from his first position as instrument man on a survey crew in Columbiana County. Barn Near Rogers Destroyed By Fire

Fire of unknown origin leveled a barn near Rogers early this morning at the farm of James Clark of Dyke Rd., RD 1, Negley.

Harley Rice, chief of Rogers Volunteer Fire Department, said the amount of loss is not known at this time. Lost were chickens, two pigs ready for butchering, corn, straw and hay and truck racks that Clark uses for his part-time employment as a sawmill operator.

Clark said that he was awakened at 1 a.m. and found the barn already blazing and immediately put in the alarm. When firemen arrived, it was too late to salvage the barn or any of its contents.

A door left open permitted a pony to escape.

When the Negley Fire Department was summoned at 3 a.m., the roof had already collapsed and it appeared that nothing could be saved so it did not answer the call.

Reilly School PTA Board Has Meeting

Richard Coburn, president of the Reilly School Parent-Teacher Association, conducted a meeting of the group's executive board at the school Tuesday.

Coburn reported that he had spoken to the Buckeye School PTA Monday about the Salem school cafeteria situation, which was followed by discussion.

Since Reilly School will not receive any money for capital improvements this year, the executive committee authorized Earle Smith, principal, to purchase five phonographs which the group feels have been needed for some time.

Ken Pelley moved that the board recommend to the PTA a change in the teacher scholarship plan. He stated that a majority of teachers feel the scholarship money could be paid from each year's profit and the amount in the fund could be used to buy equipment that is needed now.

Richard Karlis, committee chairman, is working on plans for the Jungle Larry Show to be held in the spring.

Pelley announced that the fair committee has set May 3 for the annual Reilly Fair.

Marysville Church Is Scene Of Wentz-Scheiderer Vows

Miss Cheryl Kay Wentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wentz of Van Kirk Drive, former Salem residents, and Daniel G. Scheiderer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scheiderer of Marysville, were married at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church at Marysville.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wentz of 620 E. 3rd St., and Mrs. Emmor H. Taylor of 638 E. 7th St.

Rev. David P. Thompson officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and lighted with cathedral candles in seven-branch candelabra.

Homer S. Taylor of Salem, uncle of the bride, presided at the organ console as the bride was escorted by her father down an aisle whose pew ends were marked with white bows.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of brocade satin with Basque bodice featuring motifs of pearls. Inverted pleats fashioned the waltz-length skirt. A crown of pearls held her veil of French illusion, and she carried her mother's Eastern Star Bible topped with an arrangement of roses.

Miss Nancy Herron was maid of honor. She wore a dress of soft blue peau de soie with a matching headpiece and carried white and pink roses.

Flower girl was Bonnie Chamberlain in a dress of blue pleated nylon.

Russell Scheiderer served his brother as best man. Ushering were Ronald Vollrath, Paul Scheiderer and Roger Rausch.

Gary Greenbaum carried the rings.

Mrs. Homer S. Taylor, aunt of the bride, registered the 200 guests who attended the reception in the church social rooms following the ceremony.

Two-branch candelabra lighted the lace covered bride's table which was centered with a three-tiered pink and white wedding cake topped with miniature bride and bridegroom figurine.

Following a honeymoon to an undisclosed destination, the couple will reside at Story's Trailer Court at Marysville.

The bride is a graduate of Marysville High School and attended Mount Carmel School of Nursing.

A graduate of Darby High School, Mr. Scheiderer is employed by Bunsold's Plumbing and Heating Co. at Marysville and is engaged in farming with his father.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Sandwiches? After 40 years I should know!

Leftover ham may be ground and mixed with jar mustard and a very little mayonnaise to make it moist enough to spread.

Grated cheese mixed with mustard, mayonnaise, and tomato sauce is good.

Cold meat loaf? Excellent!

Chopped hard boiled eggs mixed with mustard and mayonnaise.

Use your own judgment on making up your mixture and add a little imagination . . . such as chow-chow, tomato catsup and so forth, mixed with enough mayonnaise to make it milder.

Chicken, when ground, makes delicious chicken salad and it is always good.

MRS. H. KUTCHER.

DEAR FOLKS: This woman gives the ideas so why not let's take it from there?

Many people hesitate to buy turkeys except just on Christmas and Thanksgiving. Why? Turkey meat is plenty cheap!

Chicken is cheap, too! Especially those "old hens" which we boil. (And I am NOT talking about you and me!)

Go on and buy that turkey or hen. Eat the best part of it the first night.

THE NEXT night serve sliced chicken or turkey sandwiches. BUT, save that broth and those drippings. After your family has gotten down to practically the carcass (that is, those bones and the dark meat break the fowl apart and put in a pot of water, adding a little chicken bouillon, breaking the carcass up so that it will fit into a small pan, and let it boil for an hour or so.

The little bits of meat will literally fall off the bone itself. After boiling, set the pan aside and let it cool; and only then start picking those bones!

You will be amazed how much meat you will get from that old carcass!

This meat may either be thrown back into the broth and you can have chicken and dumplings that night, or you can make soup out of the broth and grind your chicken with the food chopper.

Always grind your meat first and while your chopper is still on the board get out those sweet pickles and run them through that grinder, too. The pickles will push the left-over meat out of your grinder.

At the same time, if you happen to have a piece of celery in the house, take your potato peeler and remove the strings from the celery. Run that stalk of celery through that grinder, too! Furthermore . . . do not throw away the leaves on the end of that stalk of celery. Grind them up, too! They are delicious.

ALL THAT is needed then is a dab of mayonnaise to make a delicious sandwich spread. After this is mixed put it in a fruit jar and cap the top. This keeps it from drying out.

This mixture may be kept in your refrigerator and used not only for sandwiches but to stuff tomatoes with! What a wonderful lunch for tired mothers; it makes a beautiful plate for supper, too. Serve on a lettuce leaf with a few crackers, pickled beets, carrot sticks and maybe some green canned peas.

Wow! Aren't you hungry? Just reading this woman's letter has sent me to the kitchen to grind up my old bird!

DEAR HELOISE: The way to get teen-agers' white socks white again . . . is to boil them in water to which lemon slices have been added.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Operation Helps Many Asthmatics

Emphysema is a condition in which the air enters the lungs more easily than it is expelled. The disease is steadily increasing.

This is in part due to the fact that a larger proportion of our population is passing the half century mark when they are more likely to get this ailment.

A valve-like Dr. Brandstadt obstruction in the minute terminal air passages causes a slowly progressive ballooning of these air sacs. In later stages of the disease they may rupture and produce scarring.

Although the exact cause is not known it is seen most commonly in men (10 times more men than women) who smoke more than one pack of cigarettes a day, who have frequent colds and attacks of bronchitis, and who live in industrial areas with air pollution.

IN THE EARLY STAGES of this insidious process there are no symptoms and the diagnosis can be made only at autopsy when a person has died of something else.

As the disease progresses there is shortness of breath but it comes on so gradually that most sufferers can't tell exactly how many months or years they had it.

Many of them become alarmed and blame their shortness of breath on asthma, overweight, or heart disease. Because exertion aggravates the shortness of breath they may cut down on their outdoor activity but this is likely to add to their difficulty.

Meanwhile they may develop a cough which does not accomplish its purpose of ridding them of their sputum because the secretions from the lungs are thick and gluey.

BECAUSE THE AIR in the lungs is dammed back, the chest may become enlarged, a condition known as barrel chest. And because the lungs are filled with old air that cannot escape, there is less room for fresh air.

As a consequence the blood coursing through the lungs does not pick up enough oxygen to nourish the tissues and in the late stages the face, hands, and feet may assume a bluish tinge and the ends of the fingers may become bulbous.

Since we doctors do not know the exact cause of this disease we do not know how to prevent it and, when much scarring has occurred, the unhealthy lung tissue cannot be replaced by new tissue.

HOWEVER, much can be done if treatment is started in the early stages. A person with beginning emphysema should report to his doctor whenever a cold or other acute respiratory disease is starting.

He will be well-advised to give up smoking or, if he can't do this, to smoke less than a pack a day. He should keep himself physically fit because he will thereby help to ward off other diseases and will recover more readily if he does get sick. He should give up any occupation that requires him to spend his days in dust or soot-laden air.

FURTHERMORE, his doctor can give him medicines that will loosen the thick mucous secretions in his lungs. Increasing his fluid intake also helps in this process.

Other drug may be given to help dilate the small bronchial tubes that are obstructing expiration. In the early stages the natural exercise of easy laughter, humming, singing and whistling is beneficial as is walking in the fresh air.

Money Can Be Saved by Picking Correct Tax Rate When Filing

EDITOR'S NOTE — In making out 1962 federal income tax returns, the citizen can save money by using the correct tax rate and understanding the exemptions allowed. This article, third of a series, tells how the rules differ for different groups of taxpayers.

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Save money on your 1962 income tax return by picking the right tax rate and understanding husband-wife filing problems and exemptions.

Each exemption means $600 knocked off your income before what's left is taxable.

For those figuring their own tax there are three different tax rates in separate schedules on page 9 of the 14-page instruction sheet provided by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS).

The rates differ because the rules differ for different groups of taxpayers. The three schedules are: No. 1 highest rate; No. 3, lower; No. 2, lowest.

No. 1—For single persons and married couples filing separately. This is why married couples should think twice before filing separately.

No. 3—For unmarried or legally separated taxpayers who can qualify as "heads of household." More in detail on that later.

No. 2—For married people filing jointly and certain widows and widowers. Remember: both husband and wife must sign a joint return to have it considered joint.

Anyone filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself, $1,200 if he's over 65, and $600 more if he's blind at any age.

He gets the same exemption for his wife if she fits the rules. Here are the rules:

A wife with income under $600 return if she had no 1962 income. You can file your own, claiming a $600 exemption for yourself, another $600 for her. But, because you alone filed, you'd have to use schedule No. 1, the highest rate.

That's losing money because a wife without income can file jointly with you. You'd still take the two $600 exemptions but would use schedule No. 2 with the lowest tax rate. Most married people do this.

There are some special exceptions where a husband and wife come out ahead filing separately. Work it out both ways if you have doubts.

A wife within come under $600 doesn't have to file a return because less than that amount does not have to be reported.

But, because she had any income at all, you can't claim the $600 exemption for her unless she files jointly with you on schedule No. 2. In such a case, if you alone filed, you'd have to use schedule No. 1.

If she had income and files jointly with you, she must report that income, no matter how small, on your joint return.

Suppose your wife had income of $600 or more. Then she must, like anyone else with that much income, file a return, either separately or jointly with you. If she files separately, she uses schedule No. 1, claiming her own $600 exemption. You then would also have to use No. 1, filing separately and claiming your $600 exemption.

If you file jointly, you use tax rate schedule No. 2, claiming our two $600 exemptions on that one return.

Couples filing separately must either take the standard 10 per cent deduction allowed all taxpayers for expenses or, if one itemizes, then both must itemize. When they itemize, as pointed out earlier in this series, they must use form 1040.

Although a single person or a couple filing jointly can take the standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income—up to a maximum deduction of $1,000—without itemizing, a married couple filing separately can each take the standard 10 per cent deduction only up to a limit of $500.

You were considered married for all of 1962 if you were married anytime in the year, even as late as Dec. 31. You were considered divorced for the whole year if you were divorced as late as Dec. 31. You can not claim an exemption for your divorced wife even though you paid more than half her support in 1962.

If a married couple filed separate returns in 1961 and 1962, or in both years, and now realize it cost them more than if they had filed jointly, they can correct the mistake by now filing a joint return for those years.

Rules on head-of-household: You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1962 or were married by the end of 1962 to someone who for part of the year was a non-resident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining your home which was the main residence of yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any other relative you can claim as a dependent; or if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

You can not claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged. Here are rules on widows and widowers who, instead of having to file as single persons using schedule No. 1, can save money by using No. 2 with its lower tax rate: If your wife, or husband, died in 1962 and you did not remarry you can claim a $600 exemption for your deceased spouse on a joint return, using schedule No. 2. In that return you must report any income she had.

You can also use schedule No. 2 for your 1962 return—if your wife, or husband, died in 1961 or 1960—so long as you meet these five conditions:

You must have been entitled in 1961 or 1960 to file a joint return with her in the year of her death;

you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your dependent child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions then, using schedule No. 2, you'd list your own income, exemptions and deductions but you can not—as you could if your wife had died in 1962—claim a $600 exemption for her.

Next: Exemptions. The world's first blood bank was established in Chicago in 1937 by Dr. Bernard Fantus.

Glamorous Pancake Fits Budget

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

We have no hesitation in recommending to you this Baked Apple Pancake—one of the most delectable dishes we've come upon. It takes no fancy ingredients, and it's inexpensive.

Serve this great dish, as light as a soufflé but more durable, after a soup or salad lunch, or as a brunch or dinnertime dessert. Either way, we believe your tastebuds will enjoy it as much as did ours. If there should be any left over, we found it was delicious cold.

BAKED APPLE PANCAKE

3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup evaporated milk, 2 large eggs (separated), 5 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons milk, 1 cup pared and finely diced yellow Delicious or Winesap apple, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

BAKED APPLE PANCAKE

3 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 large eggs (separated), 5 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons milk, 1 cup pared and finely diced yellow Delicious or Winesap apple, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in 3 tablespoons of the sugar; continue beating, if necessary, until whites stand in stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Without washing beater, beat yolks until thickened and pale yellow; beat in milk gently. Sift and beat in gently until blended the sifted flour mixture. Fold in egg whites along with the apple and lemon juice. Melt butter in a 10-inch iron skillet (or some other kind of heavy skillet with an oven-proof handle).

Turn pancake mixture into skillet over the butter; spread evenly; sprinkle with the remaining 2 tablespoons sugar mixed with the cinnamon.

Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until set and lightly browned—about 10 minutes. Cut into 4 wedges and serve at once with superfine granulated or confectioners sugar. Cut into wedges and remove with wide spatula; serve at once. Makes four large servings.

Baked Cheese Potatoes Make a Hit

Savory, flavory, with the tang of sharp cheddar, twice-baked cheese potatoes are elegant with any roast.

Plan to bake and freeze the potatoes on a leisurely day well in advance of the big meal. Baked potatoes are cut in half. Then the mealy white part is whipped to a creamy light texture with evaporated milk along with flavor accents of onion, parsley and shredded cheese.

The whipped mixture is then lightly spooned back into potato jackets, ready for freezing. About a half hour before serving, unwrap the frozen potato halves through and brown lightly.

4 medium size baking potatoes, 3/4 cup evaporated milk, 1 1/2 teaspoons instant minced onion, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes, 1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar Cheese (1/4 pound).

Scrub potatoes thoroughly and rub with fat, then prick with a fork to allow steam to escape while baking. Bake in preheated hot oven (400 deg.) until done, about 1 hour. Add instant minced onion to evaporate milk and allow to stand while preparing potatoes. Cut potatoes in half lengthwise and carefully scoop out insides saving shells. Mash potatoes, then beat in the butter, evaporated milk and onion mixture, salt and parsley flakes. Beat in cheese. Spoon mixture back into potato shells and bake at 400 deg. F. for 10 minutes longer. Makes 8 servings.

NOTE: To freeze: Cool potatoes thoroughly after refilling shells. (Do not bake past 10 minutes as directed above.) Place on baking sheet or aluminum foil in freezer and freeze until firm. Wrap in air tight wrappings and return to freezer.

To serve: Remove wrappings and place frozen potatoes in a shallow pan. Bake in preheated hot oven (400 deg. F.) until hot, about 25 to 30 minutes.

Franklin PTO Plans To Sponsor Scout Unit

SUMMITVILLE — The Franklin School Parent-Teacher Organization met Monday night at the school.

Members voted to sponsor Boy Scout Troop 47 for the coming year. The scouts will hold a dance soon, Mrs. George Kellison announced.

Ways and means chairman, Mrs. John Nemeth, said the PTO will hold a Valentine dance Feb. 21 with the place to be announced.

Treasurer Ethel Mae Phillips reported $22 was netted from a bake sale held in December.

The program consisted of a community sing of folk songs and other old-time numbers led by Mrs. James Doan. Mr. and Mrs. Doan performed a duet number, and he presented a solo.

Mrs. Charles Crawford, president, who opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer, conducted business. Some 50 attended. The next meeting will be Feb. 18.

Residents of Town Will Need No Money

LONDON (AP) — Jeffrey Forse, 21, an his wife, Christine, 19, are on their way to Australia's Great Barrier Reef to look for an island home away from the rush of city life and the threat of nuclear fallout.

Nineteen others are supposed to join them after they've chosen an island. The group community plans to establish a life where there will be no money and all work will be shared.

The 21 were picked from 5,000 applicants from all over the world, Forse said.

PAINTING or dancing was the choice facing Swen Swenson when he left high school in Iowa for New York. Today, as a result of his performance as a singer-actor-dancer in the Broadway musical "Little Me," he can do both. He paints to relax and dances in the Sid Caesar musical for a living. He joined the Mata and Hari troupe and performed in "Wildcat." On television, he has worked with Ed Sullivan and Jackie Gleason.

Swen also raises pedigreed dogs as hobby.

Vanderkelen Signs Pact With Vikings

By LEW FERGUSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) —

It's a mighty leap from a 90-second scrub in college to National Football League apprentice quarterback, but Wisconsin's Ron Vanderkelen is so nonchalant about it all you'd think he was Y. A. Tittle.

"I realize nobody can just step in and play pro football," the handsome Badger grinner said Tuesday after he had signed a one-year contract with the Minnesota Vikings.

Terms were not disclosed, but the pact does not include a no-cut clause. It is believed he signed for about $20,000 in bonus and salary. A personal agreement with a Viking owner will guarantee employment so Vanderkelen will realize his salary next year whether he makes the team or not.

"I think I can make it or I wouldn't have signed," the Rose Bowl hero said.

"Sure this club has a real good quarterback in Fran Tarkenton. I don't know if I'll ever be as good as he is, but I'll try and I know with this team I'll get the chance."

A chance is all Vanderkelen wants. The 23-year-old had offers from 11 other pro clubs, some of them possibly more lucrative.

He picked Minnesota because "I think it's a great opportunity to play on a young team. Now it just depends on how well I perform whether I can make it."

The last time Vanderkelen "got a chance," was only five months ago when coach Milt Bruhn assembled his Badger squad for the start of fall practice.

Vanderkelen was tabbed by Bruhn to fill the shoes of the departed Ron Miller, a fine college passer who rode the bench last season for the Los Angeles Rams.

Vanderkelen got the nod although his log showed only 90 seconds of varsity play.

Vandy, a 6-foot-2, 185-pounder not only became Wisconsin's first string quarterback. He led Wisconsin to an 8-1 season and the Big Ten championship.

Then came the Rose Bowl and Vanderkelen surpassed even his most brilliant Big Ten performances. Wisconsin lost to national champion Southern California 42-37, but not before Vandy rallied the Badgers from a four-touch down deficit.

Canfield Triumphs Over South 72-60

Pete Ort went on a 29-point scoring spree to spark Canfield to a 72-60 victory over Youngstown South in an independent basketball clash at South Field House Tuesday night.

The Warriors led the Cardinals 20-5 midway in the initial period and held a 24-15 lead at the end of the session. Canfield retaliated to take a 35-34 margin at intermission.

The two schools were deadlocked 50-50 at the end of the third frame. Canfield outscored South 22-10 in the final frame.

Hood chipped in with 12 markers for the winners, who posted their seventh win in 12 starts.

McElroy chalked up 26 markers to pace Youngstown South. Beach had 13 and Turner made 10.

Canfield travels to Youngstown to face Rayen Friday.

Thirteen contests are slated for Friday night, with another nine set for Saturday.

All the action in the Tri-County loop will be on Friday night while two Inter-County games are scheduled for Friday and another on Saturday. The Turnpike Conference games will be played one each on Friday and Saturday.

IN TRI-COUNTY PLAY, Lisbon's league-leading Blue Devils will be after their eighth straight loop victory when they travel to Minerva to scrap with Coach Don Lawther's Lions.

The Lions currently hold down the fifth position in the eight-team conference with a 3-4, 5-6 record.

Lisbon's only loss in 11 showings was at the hands of the Wellsville Bengals.

Columbiana, the second-place team with a 6-1 and 9-2 mark will also be on the road, battling Louisville. Columbiana's single defeat in loop play was at Lisbon while Louisville is unimpressive with a 2-5, 2-8 record.

ELSEWHERE in the league, Leetonia will be on the road at Poland and Sebring will be host to the East Palestine Bulldogs.

Leetonia is the only league team in action Saturday, entertaining Crestview's Rebels of the Inter-County League.

The Rebels are the top team of the circuit, displaying a 2-0 loop mark and an 8-1 overall record, and will entertain the Zippers of North Lima in a league contest Friday night. The only other game within the league Friday will be the Western Reserve-Lowellville tilt to be played at Lowellville.

League action on Saturday will find Mineral Ridge at Greenford in an effort to retain its second-place standing. Greenford is in third place with a 1-1 mark and could move into second by defeating the Ramblers who currently boast a 2-1 mark.

IN TURNPIKE CONFERENCE action, United Local will carry a 1-2, 5-4 record to Springfield Local night and then be back in action Saturday, playing host to Warren St. Mary's.

In other games Friday, McDonald will play host to Lordstown. Warren St. Mary's will be at home to Bloomfield, Wellsville will be at Salem, Toronto will be on the road at Beaver Local, East Liverpool will be at New Philadelphia and Stanton Local will be at Salineville.

Clay Predicts 3-Round KO For Powell

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"So you people will believe in me, Powell must now go in three."

So reads the latest entry in the verse anthology of Cassius Clay, the fighting poet who is unbeaten in 12 boxing bouts and, he says, in 12 predictions.

Clay delivered his couplet Tuesday as he neared the end of training for his 10-round heavyweight match with Charley Powell Thursday night.

The 21-year-old phenomenon from Louisville originally predicted Powell would fall in five rounds, but as sometimes has been his style, he switched plans.

Powell didn't comment on Clay's new plans, but he did say he wouldn't help pay Cassius' plane fare out of the country if the bout ends in an upset.

Clay, a 4-1 favorite, has promised he will take the first jet out of the country if his prediction is proved wrong.

Cincy Battles Illinois Next

Loyola Risks Streak Against Santa Clara

By JOE EMOOSHL
CHICAGO (AP) — Cincinnati's defense, Illinois' speed and Loyola's scoring prowess will be on display Saturday night in one of college basketball's biggest attractions in years.

A sellout crowd of 18,000 will jam Chicago Stadium to set the nation's three top-ranked teams along with Santa Clara.

Top-ranked Cincinnati, the undefeated NCAA champion, goes up against third-ranked Illinois, which has lost only once in 13 games this year, falling 90-88 before Notre Dame.

Loyola, ranked second and leading the nation in offense with a 97.7 average, will play Santa Clara in the first game and then, if victorious, will witness the second game in which its national ranking can only gain strength.

Cincinnati has held its opponents to an average of 48.5 points in 14 games while scoring 71.1. Illinois has an 88.6 average with a yield of 73.6 per game.

Both schools have been out of action because of mid-semester examinations, but coaches Harry Combes of Illinois and Ed Jucker of Cincinnati have had their teams working out.

Combes, expressing confidence, would not go along with the theory that the layoff would give the Bearcats an advantage over Illinois because lack of action might hurt a team geared for offense more than one which relies on defense.

Combes scouted Cincinnati in its 52-46 victory over Bradley and was impressed by the Bearcats. "They make very few errors and they are solid on both offense and defense. In the second half against Bradley they took 13 shots and made 19 of them. That's pretty good control."

Illinois is a balanced squad with exceptional speed. The thing that impresses Jucker the most is "their ability to bring the ball down the court quickly."

Speaking to the Chicago Basketball Writers by telephone, Jucker explained his club's pattern. "We have the fewest number of personal fouls of any team in the country," he said. "We take good shots. We don't lunge and grab at the opposition. We harass them into making bad passes and taking bad shots. We know it takes points to win and we eventually score our share. It may take time but we have the patience."

Asked if his club's 32-game winning streak places any extra pressure on his players, Jucker said, "I don't know if it does or not, but there are times that I feel the pressure."

Signs Detroit Pact For $25,000

Aguirre Gets Pay Boost From Tigers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
"May the bubble never burst," said Detroit pitcher Hank Aguirre last season as his earned run average and batting average continued to drop at a rate that would send stock market manipulators scurrying for apple carts.

It didn't. And Tuesday the 30-year-old left-hander, who made one of the most astonishing flip-flops in the majors last year, got his dividend—a $7,000 pay boost to $25,000 when he signed his 1963 baseball contract with the Tigers.

Aguirre had a 4-4 record and a 3.27 ERA in 1961. In 1962 he underwent a complete transformation after getting his first start on May 26, and wound up with a 16-8 mark and a major league leading 2.21 ERA.

How does Aguirre account for the change?

He gives much of the credit to team physician Dr. Russell Wright, who convinced Aguirre that a pain in his chest stemmed from a quirk in his pitching motion and had nothing to do with his heart.

"I got sick the second day of the season in 1960," says Aguirre. "I was in church when it hap-

NEW YORK (AP)—"The first 1,000 would be tough, the second 1,000 should be tougher."

Thus spoke Dolph Schayes, professional basketball's iron man, Tuesday night after he became the first ever to play in 1,000 regular season National Basketball Association games.

Schayes, a 6-foot-8, 200-pounder now in his 15th season with the Syracuse Nats, scored seven points on three field goals and a foul and grabbed four rebounds at the Nats lost to St. Louis 113-93. He played 15 of the 48 minutes.

The former New York University star, who will be 35 in May, received a tremendous ovation from the Madison Square Garden crowd of 15,034 when he was hon-

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS L. LIDE
Ice fishing is beginning to catch on in this area as they are around Cincinnati or York, Pa.

One thing peculiar to the mockers at my home is he was seen eating the rotten apples at the base of an apple tree so there is where I established his feeding station, right on the ground. After he gets his fill he sticks pretty close to his food and let any other bird approach near his cafeteria and the battle is on. I have seen him take on all comers including red birds and jays and he is still the "champ."

Another rare observation for this time of the year was the kingfisher I saw last week. Could be he is feeding on the dead minnows in the open waters of Beaver Creek killed by pollution. Also I observed a pileated woodpecker flying across the highway. They usually travel in pairs but I observed only one.

I was called to Lisbon to pick up a crippled blue heron. These apparently defenseless birds can knock your eye out with their spear-like beak and are not to be trusted. The party that picked it up said he ran across it and a cat was trying to kill it. I wouldn't be surprised if there's a one-eyed cat roaming around now in the vicinity. I placed it near open water which was all I could do. I know of no way to nurse and feed a blue heron.

Wilt The Stilt Gets In Fight

Boston Rips Knicks, Warriors Lose Clash

Wilt Chamberlain got into another fight and the champion Boston Celtics, St. Louis Hawks and Detroit Pistons won, but the sentimental headlines in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night went to Dolph Schayes.

Schayes, a lively 34-year-old veteran with the Syracuse Nats, became the first to play in 1,000 regular season NBA games as the Nats lost to St. Louis 113-93 in the opener of a doubleheader at New York.

Boston whipped the New York Knicks 124-100 in the second game. At San Francisco, Detroit beat the Warriors 115-107 although Chamberlain got the decision in his scrap with the Pistons' Bob Ferry.

A crowd of 15,034, many attracted by the touch of nostalgia, turned out at Madison Square Garden to help honor Schayes.

Professional basketball's Iron Man played 15 minutes, scored seven points and grabbed four rebounds. This boosted his 15-year total to 18,778 points and 10,839 rebounds, both NBA records.

The 7-foot-1, 250-pound Chamberlain and the 6-8, 230, Ferry came to blows with 4 minutes left to play in the Detroit-San Francisco game at the Cow Palace.

Chamberlain, thrown out of Sunday's game at St. Louis for arguing with an official, tangled with Ferry after San Francisco's Guy Rodgers, 6-0, 185 pounds, had grabbed a rebound away from Ferry.

The scrap lasted several minutes as other players and fans crowded around. At the end Ferry was bleeding from the nose and Chamberlain was unmarked. The officials did not eject any one and did not call a foul.

Said Chamberlain later: "It seemed to me that he deliberately threw an elbow at Guy after the rebound. If he wants to battle that's okay, but picking on a little fellow like Rodgers doesn't go."

"I was just trying to clear the ball off the bucket and somebody grabbed me from behind," Ferry said. "The next thing I knew punches were coming my way."

Brown KO's Noriega In Comeback

HOUSTON (AP)—It took a sixth round knockout over Tony Noriega Tuesday night to convince old Joe Brown that after 17 years in the boxing business he is still one of the best 135-pounders around.

The 37-year-old former lightweight title holder looked much sharper than he did in losing the championship to Carlos Ortiz last April and in losing his first comeback bout in August against Luis Molina.

Zilske Works Out With Salem Cagers

John Zilske, who played on an undefeated football team, and saw action on the cage and track squads at Mt. Gilead last year, is working out with Salem's varsity basketball team.

Coach John Cabas said, "Zilske looks promising, he has a lot of hustle and desire, and wants to play."

"It's no easy task to move in on an established club," Cabas said. "He has a lot to learn. Just how fast he adjusts to our system will determine whether he'll play or not."

Zilske is a 6-1 senior, and a B average student.

Model Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a high fashion model gets tired of hearing:

"Why do you girls all have to look like beanpoles?"

"Oh, come on, Gladys, and have a peach melba for dessert. One won't show on you."

"I'm afraid we'll have to shoot the pictures all over. You forgot to powder your nose."

"I hear she gets $75 an hour. But she only works about 10 hours a year."

"Okay, so you say she's slender—I still say she's skinny. She makes me think of spaghetti."

"Listen, kiddo, did anybody ever tell you that you belong in the movies? I've got a cousin who—"

"The trouble with models is that they put one expression on their face in the morning, and make it last all day."

"Listen, Gladys, you gotta unbend a little and kid this guy along. He's a big out-of-town buyer."

"Her real ambition is to be an actress, but in her biggest role so far she played a background noise—on radio."

"Gladys Smirk? Gladys Smirk? Somehow, baby, I can't quite see that name in lights. How about changing it to Kim Smirk?"

"We need a fresh-faced college girl type for this one, Gladys. I'm afraid you're a little over the hill for that."

"I don't think she looks sophisticated. I just think she looks starved."

"They all start out on the cover of Vogue—and they all wind up in the girdle adds in Good Housekeeping."

"Honestly, Gladys, I'm sure you will like him. He's a real intellectual—and, besides, he owns a department store."

"What's romantic about a job like that? After all, they're nothing but clothes horses—and they don't even own the clothes."

"Yep, you can always tell a fashion model. They all carry a hat bag and got that kinda washed-out look."

"All I did was ask her would she like a piece of chocolate cake—and she fainted."

"Nothing for you today, Gladys. Please don't bother to call us. We'll call you."

Treasury Collects, Spends More Than Budget Indicates

EDITOR'S NOTE — You aren't seeing double — there are more than one kind of federal budget, and they're quite different. In this second of two articles on the federal budget, Sam Dawson, AP Business News Analyst, discusses their makeup and uses.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—To keep a tighter control over government purse strings, the Congress in 1921 ordered that a formal administrative budget be presented each January. But government has got its fingers into many things since then. And today the Treasury spends a lot more money and collects a lot more than is reported in this formal budget, even though it is a record one.

The actual receipts and expenditures are called the cash budget. They show better what really affects the economy. And today the emphasis is all on what is going to make the economy grow, or hold it back.

So the Congress will be passing upon the items in the administrative budget—totaling $86.9 billion income, $98.8 billion spending and $11.9 billion deficit. But the economists will debate the merits and effects of the cash budget—$112.2 billion receipts, $122.5 billion payments, and $10.3 billion deficit. Here is how the two sets of books differ:

The administrative budget proposes spending for: National defense, foreign aid, space research, natural resources, agriculture, commerce and transportation, housing and community development, health, labor, welfare, education, veterans benefits and services, government administration, and interest on the debt.

This formal budget lists collections from individual income taxes, corporate income taxes, excise, estate and gift taxes, customs, and miscellaneous receipts.

But the government takes in a lot more. These receipts mostly are put in special trust funds. And the government makes payments drawn from these funds. These include: The Social Security taxes withheld from your pay check and matched by your employer and the Social Security payments to the retired; the premiums collected for veterans insurance and the dividends and benefit payments from it; unemployment levies and benefits; the income and outgo of the railway pension funds, and the highway and other trust funds.

All of these affect the economy to the extent they take money out of it and put money back into it. Right now payments are stressed as one way of getting a sluggish economy moving faster. Later, receipts may have the favored role of a boom needed braking.

There are still other kinds of budget keeping for divining what's happening to the economy. One is called the National Income Accounts. This emphasizes what corporations and individuals put aside for tax payments rather than what they actually have paid on past incomes. These reserves aren't being spent or committed for future spending, other than for taxes. The National Income Accounts also doesn't count loans as government spending, because they'll be paid back and thus they differ from spending for salaries or defense hardware. Advocates of this system say it gives a better picture of how business is being affected right now.

Americans also have eyed the kind of books some European nations keep. They use separate books for long term investments and ordinary operating expenditures. For example, development of industry, agriculture, natural resources isn't included in their formal budget. So the European books don't show deficits as they would if the used the American system.

All of these variations on the art of budget making may be discussed as Congress and the economists debate the record budget proposed for fiscal 1964.
